FIRST EDIT TO KL AFTER COMING BCK FRM CA

I know I've made promises that I haven't yet been able to fulfil, and I can only imagine how hard this has been for you. I had so many hopes of closing this distance between us, of finally being together, but life had other plans.

But I want you to know, truly, that my feelings for you haven't changed, not for a moment. My love for you is as strong and as pure as the day we first started dreaming of our future together. The thought of being with you, of finally being able to hold you, is what keeps me going every day. And I want to fulfil those promises I've made, not out of obligation or fear of letting you down but because being with you is all that my heart desires.

I believe in us, even across the miles, and I hope you can believe in us, too. This distance and the struggles I'm facing won't last forever. After this obstacle, there will be no more distance between us no more nights apart, no more longing for what's just out of reach. Just you and me, creating the life we've both dreamed of, together. I know the journey hasn't been easy, and the wait has been longer than either of us expected. But I want you to believe in us, in our love, and in the future that's just waiting beyond this tough moment. I am doing everything I can to make it through this, not just for myself but for us

Please hold on a little longer. I know it's not fair, and I wish I could change things, but I promise that once this is over, there will be no more distance, no more delays, just you and me together at last. You're everything I've ever dreamed of, and I'm ready to fight through this so we can build the life we've always wanted. So, please hold on to that hope and believe in the love that has carried us this far. Soon, we'll be on the other side of this, and I promise that I will make it all worth the wait.
