Diego Camilleri Storyline

The Past (Backstory) of DC:

He was born Nov 10, 19 (year should depend on the current Date/time minus the constant 60 years) to a father from Malta, but lived and even served the Italian Army for a short time, and an Australian Mother who met Diego's father during a her University days in Italy. Diego was born and partially brought up in Italy. But the family relocated to Australia while Diego was just 4 years old.

His father and mother are dead, both died of Cancer when he was very young. (12 - 17) years. And he moved in with his Aunt, Diego's Father's elder sister. A workaholic Jewelry Business woman, she was so fixated on her job, that she couldn't get married. He loved her a lot because made sure I never lack anything and gave me the best of everything. So during his young age, he learnt the terminology of the Jewelry Business... And that made him fall in love with Gemstones, and ever since, his lifelong dream is to be a successful Gemstones Consultant, not like his Aunt who actually deal in Cut, uncut, processed and unprocessed Gems and Jewelry to sellers and dealers.

As he grew older, and entered the university for his First degree, Diego developed a strong and heart calling and passion for humanitarian jobs, and had the dream in helping the world become a better place. Creating peace around the world. As he reaches the end of his studies so did passion grew stronger. And after University, Diego decided to pursue his dream of helping the world, and if he succeeded he could then proceed to become a successful Gemologist.

Just few months after his graduation, Diego got a job at the UN, as an intern under the consulting section for the UN Peacekeeping Missions Department.

With his determination and intelligence, Diego grew quickly into a renowned Expert in Conflict and Resolution. Having spearheaded some Conflict resolution policies and also take charge of several dialogues on several occasions for many Humanitarian Agencies around the world. Diego was one of the most sort-out Diplomat in International conflict resolution. With several successes both In his career and his personal life having gotten married to his lifelong true love, and having a beautiful baby girl, life was moving very good for Diego Camilleri. Even though he wasn't blessed with much children, he had wished to have, he was very happy and contented with what he got.

Several years has passed and Diego's Daughter had gotten married to a Young, handsome, motivated and hardworking Private Pilot and she was pregnant... Just few weeks to deliver the baby, Diego had his first life attack, His Son-Inlaw died in a plane crash coming back from an island. It was devastating for Diego and their entire family, and the shock almost cost the life of Diego's Daughter and her baby. But at the end She gave birth to a son, Diego First and only grandchild.

Several months have passed, and everything returned back normal and Diego family have continue to Live as one with just small sized family.

While Diego was planning on retirement, he decided to take one last Contract, which is to join a Team of Policy maker to look into the crisis in Afghanistan, which involved Diego and his Team traveling down to Afghanistan. It was supposed to be a one week trip. But just three day in Afghanistan, thing turned sour for Diego. While he was away, Willian (Diego's Grandchild who is now 4 years old) was having a presentation in School. while Diego's wife and Daughter (Willian's mother) was driving him to school for the presentation, they had an accident which claimed the life of Diego Wife in the spot and sent his daughter to ICU but died just few minutes of getting to the hospital. And miraculously No harm to the baby Willian, As he was found unhurt at the back sit properly protected.

Diego received an Email, and had to cancel his contract and mission to Afghanistan. He returned home immediately. This unfortunate event broke him as a man. And was in shock for several weeks. He had to man up and raise his head high to take care of his only Surviving family Willian, who had that time was just 4 years old...

The Past Present Story of DC:

Fast forward, Diego is now 60 years old and Willian is now 13 or 14 years depending on the right timeline. Willian now studies in Canada, and Diego has started his Gemologist Career, and currently own a consulting firm for Gemstones.

As a Gemstone consultant Diego, helps buyers and seekers of magnificent, rare, and very precious uncut Gemstones source and purchase directly from the mines, and black market all over the world. He also deal on securing certification for unregistered gemstones... and help major individual buyers facilitate, Process and secure Gems stones that are too rare to be exposed except for individual / Royal collections or VIP gemstones showrooms

Because of his Job, he traveled a lot to the U.S.A, Dubai, Saudi-Arabia and some Major Countries in Europe. Just like his dream, he was very good and respected in the craft. Even with his successshouts, he has not been himself, because all he feels is bitterness, sadness, and anger for himself, even to this moment he still blames himself for what happened to his family, he believed, he would have been able to save and protect his family if he was around. Because of this self bitterness and Anger, he distanced himself from the world, and made only himself and Willian the only as his world. He had no friends, or family, his only family was his Aunt who had died in an Elderly Nursing Home few years back. And the only person whom was close to him (contracted) was his office manager, who handle the day to day operation of the office, while he his always away traveling.

While Willian has opened up after relocating to Canada for his schooling. For several time, Willian had to advise his granddad Diego to consider opening up his heart for love again, he should find love again and re-ignite the love, happiness and always cheerfulness in his Heart and Soul. He even tried getting him on several Dating platforms, but Diego refuses to give interest. Because to Diego, there is nothing and no one who can ignite the fire in his heart like his late wife, and hasn't forgiven him self for what happened.

Last year, Diego traveled to the New York, for a seminar which was scheduled for two weeks. While he was there, he received an email from a Procurement firm located in the US (location of the woman) inviting him to apply for a bidding process to handle a contract for sourcing, procurement and certification process of the most precious gemstones a bidder can present. The email didn't state any specific for the Gemstones, but they just wanted something very rare. It was meant for an Arabian Royal Family, who wanted to create an open display to create tourist attractions.

While Diego pounded on it. He thought "why not" so he submitted his bid with recommended purchasing ( Diamond/Stone) if they are willing to splash the money as they say... He cited one of the most rarely piece on earth, and only few licensed Consultant or procurement firm have the right insight to get hold of it, but luckily for Diego, he had a mining contact in possession of it with firm confirmation with evidence.

After submission of bid and end of Seminar he came to NY for, he went around US for an extra week, because he wanted to get a feel of the States, as he was beginning to have soft spot for the US. After his tour, he returned home to Sydney, and relaxed home for the weekend, as he returned late Friday. On Monday, he returned to the office. Even though he came in very late, he couldn't find the Office Manager, he tried reaching out but he couldn't connect his cell phone.... worried but he let himself in... while sitting and thinking what might have happened because Mrs. Gibson (the office manager) hasn't been late since working him. A 53 years old Single lonely mother who lives all by herself after the death of her husband 20 years ago, and her Children all lives abroad with their families, and barely come visiting.

She has never missed work or even can't be reached. While he pounded about the issue, The office received some unexpected visitors. The Counter Fraud and Anti-Corruption unit...

Mr. Diego was confused on sighting them, so let them in and they informed him, showing him a court warrant to search, seize Diego's Firm and also detain him.... That after several coordinated investigation, it was discovered that the company's account and documents was used in Money Laundering worth 2.4 Millions AUD within two weeks. In shock Diego fainted, and woke up at a close by clinic.

Diego still in shock on the Clinic Bed was briefed the full details of the investigations. Diego, pledged full support in any investigation process, and gave account of his activities for the past weeks, and also told them about his Office Manager who has never been late or absence from work, suddenly didn't come to work today, being Monday and he haven't been able to call her. After giving them all information about his office manager, Diego went home.

Meanwhile, his office and anything related all his business are temporary closed, suspended or blocked pending investigation. Also, traveling suspended temporary until his accounts of events are confirmed. With all this happening, Diego became even more heartbroken, he pounded who might have done this to him. A week later, he got a call from the Counter Fraud Department asking him to come to the office, that they got update for him in regards the investigation. They found out that the Office Manager in collaboration with her Fiancée used the company license, account and documents in securing and laundering money while I was away. From recovered chats they found on her Computer, with the Fiancée who is in Syria for a special mission (according to the report from the officials), no identification was found on him, and was presumed an identity theft who used her by promising her eternal Love and to come spend the rest of his life with her. She fell for the scam and now she's on the run.

The news further broke Diego heart, that someone he took close could do this to him, and this further proves his point of not trusting or opening up his heart for anyone. While the news exonerated him and his temporary suspension of not traveling was lifted, his Company, Company Account, Company Licenses is still suspending pending court order, to either Permanently close down the company and related documents and Finances or remove the suspension. But that might take up to three weeks.

So Diego decided to go back the US, just to get a breath of fresh air, and even thought maybe Australia was cursed for him. Leaving, he planned to return after the conclusion of the bidding process which he was told to be in two weeks. That way he can also get to tour around the US more, because at that time, he was so much in love with the US, and the only thing holding him back from relocating to the US was the ongoing situation with his Company. William his Grandchild had long time ago decided to stay far away from Australia, that after his High school in Canada, he want to move to the US or UK for his university.

Arriving US, Diego has been touring the US, moving from major cities. until he traveled to , and that caught his heart, he loved it there and wanted by all means get to live his remaining life there... He stayed there for a long time, checked out their university campuses, took some photos to show us Grandson, hoping he might like it here so that we can live close together, he even started making enquiries about buying a house or an apartment there because he really sees himself starting a new leave there... After long search of about a week.

While Diego stay entered the second week, he received an email from the Counter Fraud and Anti-Corruption Department with a copy of the Court ruling which direct the permanent closure of his firm (and any associating licenses), Companies account permanently closed with funds to be liquidated to the Government as proceed of Crime. Meaning Diego won't be able to create, or work with his licenses again in Australia and it's Territories.

Because of that, Diego made up his mind to relocate to the US fully, by selling his houses and moving his major portfolio to the US fully. He was so determined with approval from his Grandson on never to return to Australia, Diego and his Grandson found a new home but still yet to secure a house of my liking to buy in

On the third week of Diego Camilleri stay in , he received an email from the Procurement Firm inviting him for an Oral bidding process in New York, and immediately after the Process, the winner of the bidding will be communicated with to hurry up the process. Because the contract has been deemed "Behind Schedule". Diego was excited that his bidding quotation was accepted, meaning money won't be an issue in the procurement process and the estimate total quoted by Diego was more than 3.3 Million USD... With extra fees triggered by some terms.

Immediately Diego prepared to go to NY the final bidding process. But while in bed in his hotel room, Diego thought about having someone, a friend, who can ease his settling down and also potentially grow to something beautiful. After pondering around the thoughts, he registered and joined a dating platform his son was recommending to him "". After roaming around the platform liking and complementing on some beautiful photos, and profile not knowing what to do, he slept off so he can wake up very early for his morning flight to NY. The next morning, while Diego was getting dressed up, he heard several notifications from his Phone, though he didn't pay attention to it because he was in a hurry... After getting into the Taxi, he began going through the notifications and found a like and friend request notifications from "" informing him that "" just replied you...

Looking at the profile photos, Diego smiled for the first time in a long time while looking at her Photos, because he was amazed by her beauty. While going through the photos, Diego was having several thought, is this really ? How do I believe such a beautiful woman can be here searching for love? Diego ponder on his thoughts while in the Taxi on his way to the Airport... Few minutes later he stopped think about it, and wrote to her:

#BombingFMT

""Diego: (This message is based on your bombing format edit accordingly)
Hi there, thanks so much for considering me as a worthy person to be in your life. Going through your profile, I was just having these crazy thoughts on what is a rare beautiful gem, you doing on this platform, I thought platform like this or are all the men around you blind not to see the rare piece among them? I thought are meant for ugly, hopeless romantic old guys like me, lol. My apologies if I may sound rude, but I was just trying to say, you are beautiful. ""

After sending it, Diego logged off and focused on this Journey, but anxiety arrested his mind, and even though his eyes were fixated on the road, his mind couldn't wait to login back again and hope to get a response from her. Not just because of his excitement but also for his curiosity and had so many unanswered questions which he was dying to get answers.

Title: The Life of Diego Camilleri – A Diplomat's Journey

Part 1:

Origins – A Life Marked by Influence and Loss

Diego Camilleri was born on July 15, 1965, in Sydney, Australia, to Italian immigrant parents. Raised in a multicultural neighborhood, Diego was exposed early to the complexities of different cultures, an experience that later shaped his path into diplomacy.

His grand aunt, a renowned gemologist, played a significant role in his upbringing after his father's passing. She taught him about the rarity of trust and the brilliance hidden beneath unpolished surfaces, using gemstones as metaphors for life. However, her downfall came when she fell victim to a sophisticated scam, losing the family fortune. This betrayal instilled in Diego a lifelong sense of caution and a deep understanding of manipulation.

Fascinated by global affairs, he pursued International Relations and Peace Studies, excelling in diplomacy, conflict resolution, and cross-cultural mediation. His expertise positioned him as a key player in global negotiations, leading to a prestigious career with the United Nations Peacekeeping Missions (UNPKM).

Part 2:

A Career Built on Negotiation and Strategy

For three decades, Diego dedicated himself to diplomacy, mediating conflicts in Asia, Africa, and the Middle East. His assignments took him across continents, where he became an expert in high-stakes negotiations, tactical peace strategies, and global security policies.

In the past 10 months, Diego has been stationed in Europe, working as a consulting diplomat with UNPKM. His work focused on crisis mediation, counter-terrorism dialogue, and humanitarian efforts.

Despite his professional success, Diego remained a man haunted by personal loss. The void left by his wife's passing and the responsibility of raising his grandson, Willian, alone became an emotional challenge that no diplomatic mission could ever resolve.

Part 3:

A Grandfather's Love – Family Above All

Diego's 14-year-old grandson, Willian, was his most treasured relationship. Left orphaned when his parents tragically passed, Willian had grown up without a mother's love. Diego made it his life's mission to raise the boy with integrity and wisdom while balancing a demanding career.

Their relationship was complicated at times, Willian often resented Diego's absence due to his work. However, after a personal reflection, Willian apologized through a heartfelt letter, acknowledging that he had been selfish and failed to appreciate his grandfather's sacrifices.

"Dad, I want to apologize for how I've acted... I didn't realize how much you've sacrificed for me. I'm happy you've found someone who brings you joy. Maybe she will be the family we both need."

This letter changed everything for Diego. It made him realize that he longed for a partner, not just for himself, but for his family.

Part 4:

The Quest for Love – Diego's Emotional Awakening

For years, Diego had been reluctant to open his heart. The ghosts of his past, his wife, his daughter, his grand aunt, remained constant reminders of loss. But in his loneliness, he knew he needed more than work and duty to feel complete.

With hesitation, he stepped into the digital world of companionship, exploring social media platforms like Instagram. Despite his age, he took the leap, searching for someone to share his thoughts, his memories, and perhaps, his future.

He believed in love as a force of transformation, a rare gemstone that only a few would ever find polished and complete.

"I have spent my life solving conflicts across the world, but who will solve the war within my own heart?"

This question would lead him on a journey filled with hope, heartbreak, and unforeseen twists.

Part 5:

The Diplomatic Gamble – Duty vs. Personal Life

Just as Diego was opening himself to love, a final mission threatened to take it all away.

He was assigned to lead a peacekeeping delegation in [Gaza], a mission of critical importance but immense danger. This was to be his final mission before retirement.

But this time, the stakes were personal. He wrote a letter, promising to return to the life he wished to build:

"You are the light in my darkest hours, the hope that keeps me going. This will be my last mission, and when I return, I will be yours forever."

As Diego boarded his flight to the Middle East, uncertainty loomed. Would he survive? Would he return to the life he had started to build?

Part 6:

The Final Chapter – Fate Unfolds

Days passed. Weeks. Silence.

A news report flashed:

"Tensions escalate in [Gaza] as peace delegation faces unexpected danger."

Diego's last message had been brief yet chilling:

"I'll see you soon, my love. Until then, keep believing in us."

Then, nothing.

The next sign of his existence came through an unmarked envelope, inside, a photograph of Diego, standing amidst the rubble of [Gaza], his expression weary but determined.

Alongside the image was a cryptic note:

"He's doing his best, but even the strongest need help."

Epilogue: The Unwritten Fate of Diego Camilleri

Did Diego survive? Did he return to the life he dreamed of?

That remains unknown. His story ends on a cliffhanger, suspended in time, leaving only one certainty, he was a man who had loved, lost, and risked everything to find meaning again.

Perhaps, somewhere, he was still fighting his battles, waiting for the day he could finally come home.

Conclusion: Diego Camilleri, A Man of Many Wars

- Diplomat. Grandfather. Survivor. Romantic.
- A man torn between duty and the pursuit of love.
- A soldier of peace, forever searching for his own.
